A brand-new four-week interactive online course in Tibetan Dream Yoga begins March 3. It includes personal guidance and support throughout from Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche. Online workshops have been life-changing for many participants, based on their feedback and forum messages; and over and over we hear longtime practitioners new to Rinpoche saying that they are finally "getting it" after practicing with his workshop videos. There is an increasingly close-knit international sangha whose members have met each other only through corresponding and practicing together in these online workshops.
