

Upcoming Webcasts with Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche

April 2 and April 9

Coming up soon are two free, live webcasts with Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche that should be of interest to all. The April 2 webcast, on the topic of “Enlightened Leadership,” will be broadcast live from the Spring Retreat at Serenity Ridge. The April 9 webcast, on the topic of “Generating Compassion,” is the third in a six-part series on service.

Join us from your computer on Saturday, April 2, 2016, 3–4:30 p.m. Eastern Time U.S. (New York time) for “Enlightened Leadership.” As we awaken to our true nature, each one of us can become an agent of change that benefits ourselves, others and society. Through this teaching and guided meditation with Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche, discover the inner sacred space that is the source of genuine compassion and enlightened action. Broadcast live from the annual Spring Retreat at Serenity Ridge (not a public talk, but webcast is open to all).

Register for April 2 webcast

Just a week later, on Saturday, April 9, 2016, 3–4:30 p.m. Eastern Time U.S. (New York time), join us for the next free webcast, third in the six-part series on “Transforming Your World Through Service, Part 3: “Generating Compassion.” To be of true service to others, you need both wisdom and compassion—if one of these two is lacking, your efforts will have far less effect. In this free live webcast with Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche, you will learn how to tap into the source of genuine compassion, discover how to serve others by becoming more attuned to their needs, understand the difference between joyful effort and the pain of self-sacrifice, and engage in a meditation practice for cultivating compassion.

Learn more/register for April 9 webcast